

Slender loris

The red slender loris is endemic to Sri Lanka. Slender lorises like to eat insects, slugs, leaves, flowers and occasionally bird's eggs. They hunt for food at night alone, but sleep in groups during the day. Unfortunately, the slender loris is Endangered. Their rainforest home is being cut down for logging and for farming. Some people eat slender lorises and their eyes are used for medicine. Slender lorises are sometimes kept as pets.

